World Tofu Day — July 26

World Tofu Day is always celebrated on July 26

UK National Tofu Day is always celebrated on September 1

The goal of both World Tofu Day and the UK's National Tofu Day is to celebrate tofu as a vegetarian alternative to meats and fish. It celebrates healthy tofu and encourages people to stop the cruelty to animals through a more vegetarian diet. Vegetarians and animal rights groups applaud Tofu, and promote it's consumption. A second goal of these two special holidays, is to spread awareness of the benefits of eating a plant based diet, especially as it impacts animals. SPA Canada an animal rights group and the creator of World Tofu Day, uses this day to strongly fight to end animal cruelty.

Asian in origin, the word "Tofu" in Mandarin translates to "spoiled beans". Early Chinese knew that tofu was healthy. They associated the consumption of tofu with a long and healthy life. In addition, it didn't cost much, serving as an affordable option for those who didn't have money for meats.

Tofu is a vegetable product made from soybeans, that is rich in vitamins and protein. It is a healthy and organic substitute to meat and fish, and is a staple of vegetarians. Soft, bland, and custard-like, Tofu doesn't have much flavor. Like potatoes or rice, it's what you put on it, that makes it so enjoyable.

There are several steps to making tofu. The first steps, are to make soy milk. A second series of steps produces tofu. You can have extra fun today, by making your own tofu...
