Lisa Smith, President-of-the-Month

Movie Night

Stitched is a fun-filled documentary following three quilters (Caryl Bryer Fallert, Hollis Chatelain, and Randall Cook) racing to complete their entries for the International Quilt Festival in Houston, the largest quilt show in the nation.

The show drew more than 60,000 quilters in 2010 including three artists who created some controversy with their work.

In this 72-minute documentary, these quilters create their pieces to compete in the 2010 quilt show. Stitched reveals a story of friendship, passion and art. It also highlights the divide between traditional and art quilters.

Directors: Jenalia Moreno, Tom Gandy

So bring along some hand work if you can "watch-and-work" - we will provide the gourmet popcorn and some bottled water to drink— and get ready for an interesting look at one of the big quilt shows and how the "famous" quilters work to get ready for Houston!

You can purchase a copy of the Stitched the film DVD or find out more about the making of the documentary at their web site: <http://www.stitchedfilm.com/home.html>.

I'm still collecting any scraps anyone is willing to donate. I'm still working on my postage stamp charm quilt and need about 500 more unique fabrics. Any extras are being made into quilts for charity by women from my church.
